

My husband and I frequently travel between Memphis and Chicago and Memphis and Knoxville. The weather and traffic stations that are provided by our satellite radio provider (XM Radio) are invaluable to us. We also find the news and music station of great value to us. We can travel for hundreds of miles without having to search for a station that will provide us with music, traffic, weather and news. There are no regular broadcast stations that can provide us with these options. We pay for these options and as such we should have the right to receive them. No one should tell us we cannot enjoy the superior programming and quality that is provided to us by XM Radio. We urge the FCC to reject NAB's petition 04-160 and we support XM's ability to provide these services to us.
